Crystal Palace.—Washingtonea Gigantea, or monster tree of California.—An enormous specimen of the forest giants of California, transcanding in size and beauty any "big tree" as yet imported from that region, has just arrived from San Francisco, and will be exhibited in the Crystal Palace, which has been engaged by the proprietor of this wonder of nature, as the only building in New York large enough to display its magnificent propritions. The exhibition will open on Wednerday, the 4th of July, and cannot fall to prove the grand attraction of the season. The Washingtonia Gigantea (so named by hotanism,) is of much larger dimensions than the specimen of the same grant described and depicted in the London Illustrated News, under the fille of the Well ingomes Gigante at the same file that the conduction of the same grant described and depicted in the London Illustrated News, under the fille of the Well ingomes Gigante at its latitude when growing was 363 feet. Wew Liquor in New York.

WOLPE'S SCHIEDAM SCHNAPPS

The boundless popularity and sale of this improved Holland gin, being wholly unexampled in commercial history. Would be an inexplicable phenomenon, but for its distinctive properties, as derived from the superior materials and new chemical processes employed in its manufacture. Its universally conceded superiority and consequent appreciation arise from the following facts, as demonstrated by chemical analysis and medical experience.

as demonstrated by chemical analysis and medical experience.

First—It is absolutely exempt from every trace of the peralicious fusil oil, heretofore inseparable, in a greater or less degree, from every liquor distilled from grain, and the invariable tendency of which is to shatter the nervous system by excessive stimulation, to untuly inerease the serous portion of the blood, and superinduce zerous congestion of the brain, together with brounhial and asthmatical sifections, and external blotches of the face; to create a morbid in fination for habitual and intemperate indulgence, and to derange the functions of the principal viscera, including, especially, the stomach

face; to create a morbid in fination for habitual and intemperate indulgence, and to derange the functions of the principal viscers, including, especially, the stomach and liver.

Second—It is absolutely exempt from the acrid and intiges tible essential oil of the common juniper berry, with which every other kind of gin is coarsely flavored, and derives its distinctively exquisite flavor, fragrance and medicinal properties from the specifically lighter, more refined and volatile of the two essential oils of the juniperas Phœnicea, or Italian juniper berry, never heretofore employed in the manutature of gin, and the use of which for this purpose is exclusively confined to the factory of the importer, at Schiedam, in Holland.

Third—It is absolutely pure in its rectingation, chemical analysis, with the best known tests, being unable to discover the minutest of those inveterate impurities so readily detected by those means even in the very best distilled liquors in the market.

Fourth—It possesses all of the established medicinal properties of the test Holland gin, in a pre eminent degree, and hence is emphatically recommended in preference to all others, by the medical faculty of New York and of the country at large, as an agreeable and efficient remedy in incipient dropsy, gravel, gout, chronix rheumatism, flatulence, colic pains (whether in adults or infants), concretions in kidneys and bladder, fever and ague, dyspepsia, acute or chronic, general debility, aluggish circulation of the blood, madequate assimitation of food, and exhausted vital energy. It is also an immediate corrective of the fill effects of the bat water of forest and limeatone districts, and hence invaluable to travellers and new settlers.

Fifth—It is a delightful cordial beverage, superseding both the necessity and inclination for any other invigorating fluor, as both calculated and designed, when taken as recommended.

Town agents in the State are respectfully invited to call and examine some three thousand medical testimonials in favor of Oream Syrup and Pure Sods Water.—Having been aware of the difficulty of obtaining pure soda water, free from copper, for some years past, I have at last succeeded in obtaining fountains and appendages in which water might remain for mooths, as fice as it runs from the Croton. My fountains are lined with pure Banca block tin, one eighth of an inch thick, which tin has been analyzed, and pronounced to be equal for the purpose to sterling silver; the connecting pipes and taps, as well as the tube from which we draw, are sill lined with the same material, so that the water comes in contact with no other metal and free from all copper or other poisonous metals that there was so much said about last sesson. These are the first and only fountains, with all the appendages, that have been fitted up in this manner in this city; and that the pubmay prove the above statement, I will in a few days have one or them opened and exposed for exhibition in front of my store, on the corner of Canal street and Bruedway. As regards the water, it is different from other makers, having in its combination a preparation of soda, besides the carbonic acid as, which makes it much more wholesome. As to my new machinery and manner of preparing it, I will say more about hereafter. In the menutime I invite the public to try it for themselves, and judge if the water prepared in this manner, and flavored with our new cream syrup, is not superior to anything they have ever tasted. Our cream syrups are of the following flavors, viz:—vanilla cream, pine-apple cream, strawberry cream, range cream, in apple cream, and lemon cream, RUSHITON'S, new only at the corner of Barclay street.

Stager's Sewing Machines.—It is a Fact known to thousands that one of the great clothing houses in New York is making extensive sales of summer coats and veste, made in a style of perfect excellence never approached before. These coats and vests are made throughout, except button holes, by Singer's sewing machines. It is not atrange that the firm referred to should have a rush of business and obtain better prices than any of their competitors. They have taken the right means, by employing exclusively Singer's machines. These machines have just been greatly improved, so as to run without noise and with very little exertion of the operator. All other machines are liable to suits for infringements of valid patents. Singer's emly can be bought with safety.

This invaluable medicinal beverage is manufactured in London, in accordance with the stringent excise laws of Ergland, and under the immediate inspection of proper efficers, it is thence imported here, in a perfectly unadulterated state, and officed to the acceptance of a public who has only to try it to approve it.

Far superior to Holland gin, in delicacy and richness of flavor, Messenger's London cordial gin is presenteent as a diet drint. It is a tonic without reaction, a pure stimulant, and a most delicious beverage, totally free from the usually baneful elements of intoxication, common to mest other alcoholic stimulants. It possenses unrivalled tonic, diuretic and invigorating qualities; containing the concentrated extracts of some of the best tonics and purest stimulants of the Materia Medica together with the finest quality of the Italian juniper herry.

The medical faculty, both in Europe and America, gether with the finest quality of the Italian juniper berry.

The medical faculty, both in Europe and America, have tested the high qualities of the London cordual gin, and have highly recommended it for its cure of gout, rheumatism, obstructions of the bladder and kidneys, debility of the urinery functions, droppy, dyspopsis, flatulency, low temperamenas, exhausted vital energy, summer heat, and particularly the evis arising from the drinking of bad water, which are manifold as well as extremely dangerous at this season of the year.

Dr. Coliton, the eminent obemist, having analyzed Messenger's gin, pronounces it a medicinal tincture of great value. We make an extract from his certificate:—

'It, (Messenger's London cordial gin,) is essentially the same as the medicated article introduced into the United States dispensatory, under the name of Compound spirit of Juniper, and recommended as a useful addition to diuretic inrusions and mixtures, in debilitated cases of dropsy, &c. I have no doubt that, if administered medicinally, it will produce beneficial effects.

I and them to be of excellent quality, and that they have been made from the pure juice of the graps, without any alcoholic or other admixture. These wines can be highly recommended for ascramental, medicinal and other uses of pure grape wine. Among the white wines, those of Tokay, Mensi and Russti, will be found to possess the most tonic qualities; and as the white winesquarefully have directed properties, they are best for nephritic complaints, while the red wines being most astringent will be serviceable when such an effect is required. It gives me pleasure to recommend these pure wines to, the public, and I trust that the im-orters may meet with the encouragement they dealer.

OCKBRIDGE ALUM SPRINGS, VIRGINIA, FIVE miles from the Virginia Central railroad, and twenty-three miles from the Natural Bridge.—For more than thirty years these remarkable waters, qualided by a siagle newspaper advertisement, have been growing, by mere force of the wonderful cures effected by them, into public favor, and a general celebrity throughout the middle and couthern States. It is confidently asserted that in those communities they stand without a rival in the cure of scrofula, chronic diarrhoes, dispepsis, obstinate diseases of the liver, of the kidneys and of the skin, opthalmic and nervous affections, bronchitis, laryingtis, and diseases peculiar to females. Pamphilets containing analyses and a few out of many certificates voluntarily tendered to the proprietors, will be forwarded on application. The establishment is now fitted up for the reception of five hundred guests. If Northern citizens are disposed to meet and mingle with an agreeable, refined and social assemblage of Southerners, they will find this a pleasant "mourtal ground"—whilst the admirer of the sublime and the picturesque will derive a rare esjoyment from the successful passags of the cars across the summit of the Blue Ridge at Rockdish Gay, as well as in the contemplation of the Natural Bridge. After the first of July passengers breakfasting in Washington City or Richmond, will dine in Staunton and sup the same day at these Springs, thus bringing them within two days of New York without any night travel. The Voland band of music engaged for the season.
